

MOTHER DIED OF BURNS; FAILED TO SAVE CHILD

Daughter's Blazing Garments Set Fire to Her Clothing.

BOTH FLED TO STREET.

Woman's Husband Saw Them but Did Not Know Who They Were.

GIRL SOON SUCCUMBED

Mother Lingered Two Weeks in Agony—Not Told of Daughter's Death.

Mrs. John A. Jorda died at her home, 123 Dawson street, the Bronx, today, from burns she received a week ago last Saturday in trying to extinguish the flames which burned her seven-year-old daughter, Florence, to death. The girl died a few hours after the accident. The mother lingered in great agony until today.

Mrs. Jorda was cleaning a pair of white gloves with benzine in the laundry of her home when a quantity of the volatile liquid was spilled on her skirt. In passing a gas stove a minute later the dress caught fire and the frightened girl ran to the floor above, the flames being fanned by her speed until her dress was entirely ablaze, when she burst in upon her mother, who was in a sewing room.

Mr. Jorda tried frantically to beat the flames with his hands. Her wild efforts only took the dress away so that the flames fed with more fury on the undergarments. The girl dashed into the back yard, followed by the mother.

As Mr. Jorda caught her there her own clothing took fire.

Boy Battles With Blaze.

A grocer's delivery boy reached the house at that moment and, on seeing the fire, rushed to the yard, picked up a large rug and ran in the yard. The girl broke away from her mother and ran back into the house. The boy threw Mr. Jorda to the ground, rolled her in the rug and extinguished the flames. But the woman had a short time before her death, and she was burned internally.

Mrs. Florence ran through the house and to the street, her garments being burning high over her head. In the confusion of her home she fell to the sidewalk in exhaustion.

A passing pedler jumped from his wagon, grabbed his horse blanket and wrapped it about the girl. But by that time the fire had burned the clothing from her body and her flesh was frightfully seared.

Father Sees Daughter Ablaze.

A policeman called two ambulances and as they approached the house Mr. Jorda, who was at work on an adjacent building, saw a woman and a child running through the streets, but it was not until he returned to his home that night that he learned the tragedy had struck his family.

Drs. Ingraham and Babcock were called. It was useless to send the girl to the hospital. She lived only a short time. The mother, still unconscious, refused to go to a hospital and was kept in the house. She was not told of her daughter's death, and when Mrs. Jorda died today it was in the belief that Florence was improving in the hospital.

MAN DIES IN HOTEL

R. W. Wilson Expires in Corridor of Cosmopolitan.

R. W. Wilson, of No. 211 Amsterdam avenue, died suddenly today in the corridor of the Cosmopolitan Hotel, Chambers street and West Broadway. Wilson was a salesman for C. M. Moorman & Brother, of No. 128 Chambers street, directly across the street from the hotel. He had not been well for two weeks. This morning at 3 o'clock Wilson registered at the hotel. He went out and returned at 4 o'clock. Instead of going to his room he sat down in the corridor. The porter found him raising for breath shortly before 7 o'clock. An ambulance was summoned from the Hudson Street Hospital, but Wilson died before it arrived. Wilson was one of the best known harness men in New York.

POPE'S ENVOY IN JAPAN.

Bishop O'Connell Received by Mikado in Tokio.

TOKYO, Nov. 10.—The Emperor received in audience today Bishop William O'Connell, the Pope's special envoy. Bishop O'Connell was presented by Premier Katsura.

Bishop O'Connell was sent by the Pope as special envoy to Japan to care for the interests of the Catholic Church in that empire.

STRIKERS GET PAY WHILE NOT WORKING

Austrian Railway Restrictions So Strictly Obeyed as to Tie Up Roads.

VIENNA, Nov. 10.—The "passive resistance" strike on the railways became effective here yesterday, and already the delays to traffic are serious. The strikers are still drawing their pay, and legally, for theoretically their position is correct.

They are obeying absolutely all the railway regulations, which are so complex that the only way to run a railway is to ignore them. There is in order to end the strike the Minister of Communications is revising the regulations as fast as he can. In Bohemia the situation is gravely serious, for a general strike is threatened here to support the demand for universal suffrage.

The Government, preparing for possible rioting, is equipping troops for active service and sending reinforcements to Prague.

ONE PROFIT—NOT FIVE!

However, or wherever, or whenever you buy footwear, don't pay the shoe-people five profits any more!

Other shoes have to be sold four times before they are sold to you. Regals are sold just once, and that's how you get timely, up-to-date style in the Regal shoe, and get it at the wholesale price. DIRECT-NESS:—No waste of time, no waste of money—no waste anywhere.

No matter how difficult you are to fit, no matter what shape or weight or leather suits you best, there's a Regal made up for you. The style is correct, the fit is certain, and the price is fair and square.

We can't think of any reason why anybody should buy any shoe except the Regal. It's as good as you can buy if you pay twice its price; better shoes simply aren't made! It's bound to be as perfect a fit as any shoe you ever had made to order at any price.

Quarter Sizes in every Regal model, and in Regals only.

ANT-I-WET The Best Ready-Made Clothing Yet Produced

Its Twelve Points of Excellence.

Take all the good qualities of the best clothes you know of: (1) Good fabrics. (2) Correct styles. (3) Fine workmanship. (4) Perfect fit. Now please add the particular virtues of ANT-I-WET: (5) Moisture proof—protection against colds. (6) Free circulation—insuring your comfort. (7) Exclusive fabrics, showing a dressy finish heretofore unattained. (8) Designs not merely original, but "advanced." (9) Fabrics that will not allow stains, spots or dust to become impregnated as in ordinary clothing. (10) Wrinkling, creasing and bagging is reduced to a minimum. (11) Special models designed for men who heretofore could not get fitted in READY-MADE, and (12) The Ant-I-Wet trade mark which will AT ALL TIMES be found on GOOD CLOTHES ONLY.

TO PRODUCE such clothing at prices ranging from Fifteen to Forty Dollars is considerable of an achievement. We are the maker, selling direct to you, the wearer—that's one reason. We save the middleman's profit, and also save the high-priced magazine advertising, and other costly publicity—or rather YOU save it. To-morrow we go further, with a special introductory offer, embracing an unequalled line of high-grade and fashionable Suits, Topcoats, Raincoats and Winter Overcoats at the MINIMUM of these prices—which is Fifteen Dollars.

On our main floor three solid sections, including:
